

Utilizing intelligence to mitigate global expansion risks

Let PSD Global's worldwide network of contacts and consultants assess all the potential economic, political and security challenges affecting your international business so you can more accurately mitigate your expansion risks.

Using the latest in locally-based human source techniques and intelligence collection technology, our team of experienced professionals will carefully collect, analyze and assess your risks.

GLOBAL RISK SERVICES:

Intelligence Training

Executive Training: PSD Global will train your internal intelligence collection managers how best to structure your organization, personnel and functional activities based on priority collection targets, goals, resource constraints and other relevant benchmarks.

Basic Operational Training: Targeted to all human source intelligence collectors from individual on-street collectors to mid-managers, PSD Global provides training in all aspects of human source collection, to include source identification, acquisition, day-to-day handling, overall management, testing, exploitation and retention.

Risk Analysis and Surveys

We understand diverse overseas operating environments, and when it comes to tailored, in-depth political, economic and security analyses, PSD Global has the right network of experienced regional experts to get you the kind of actionable intelligence you need.

From specific on-site surveys and intelligence collection on targets varying from individuals, companies and organizations to locations, programs and infrastructures, PSD Global provides potential investors with complete and realistic situational analyses encompassing all the local factors likely to impact their business activities in an overseas environment.

Selective Due Diligence and Investigation

From a potential overseas partner or acquisition target to a problematic project or work site, PSD Global brings the fresh set of eyes you need to uncover the real problems affecting your business, while at the same time recommending actionable solutions.

Our risk services help companies who are looking to:

- Enter new and unknown markets for the first time
- Expand their presence in high risk environments
- Consider a potential merger or acquisition in another country
- Understand the political, economic and security risks in an overseas location
- Gain basic and operational intelligence training for their key people
- Work on related contracts as a prime contractor or partner with PSD Global